Holiday's Greens In University Buildings Create A 'Christmasy' Look On Campus

If Mother Nature would only provide a little snow, OU's Christmasy look would be complete.

A walk through the Milo Bail Student Center provides a quick reminder that Christmas is quite near.

The OUampi Room is heavily-laden with boughs of evergreen and lighted with multi-colored bulbs instead of the standard lighting.

Christmas trees are located in the Ben Gallagher Game Room, the Ballroom and the cafeteria. A king-size wreath is displayed in the east window of the MBSC.

The game room also sports a piano and attracts a number of students with its Christmas music-singers, as well as onlookers.

The second floor of the Administration Building also boasts a tree located in the hallway in front of the Business Office. It was put up by Physical Plant personnel and decorated by the Administration staff.

This marks the eleventh year that the familiar eight-point Christmas star has been displayed on the cupola of the Administration Building.

The eight-foot, fiberglass ornament was designed and built in 1954 and has been displayed annually by the Physical Plant department. Six dozen 60 watt bulbs are required to light the star. All bulbs are replaced each year.

Dr. Payne Hospitalized

An Omaha University faculty member is recuperating in Clarkson hospital this week.

He is Dr. Wilfred Payne of the philosophy department.

Doctors hospitalized him Monday after he collapsed in his 4:30 Men and Ideas class. His condition, not believed to be serious, has been diagnosed as a severe case of the flu.

The GATEWAY this week apologizes to Dr. Jack Hill, professor of management.

In the lead story in last week's edition we stated that Dr. Hill introduced resolutions to a recent meeting of American Association of University Professors concerning the dismissal of a Kearney State faculty member.

Dr. Hill did not introduce these resolutions; when he returned from the Lincoln gathering, he reported the events to Omaha news media. Dr. Hill campaigned and voted against several of the AAUP's resolutions.

We're sorry, Dr. Hill.

Class Dismissal To Hear Choir's Carol 'Fantasia'

Students will receive a break from classes this morning as all 10:30 classes are dismissed for the annual Christmas convocation.

Under the direction of John Miller the University choir will present "A Fantasia on Christmas Carols" by Englishman Ralph Von Williams.

Richard Wilson is featured soloist. An instrumental ensemble will accompany the 'Fantasia.'

In addition the choir will offer selections of music ranging from the 1500's up to contemporary popular music and folk songs.

The GATEWAY is published weekly by students of the Omaha University Department of Journalism. Editorial comment and signed letters to the editor are not necessarily represent opinions of the faculty, administration or student body.

Pflasterer Finds Restrictions On Dress To Be Necessary

By Joe Reiss

"Who do they think they are? They can't tell me how to dress!"

This is a common phrase at Omaha University. It concerns the University's policy of setting certain restrictions on student apparel. An example was an incident involving a bootstrapper's wife.

It seems she chose to wear slacks when accompanying her husband for a bowling game in the Milo Bail Student Center. Since she was not outfitted in the manner deemed proper by university officialdom, she was asked to leave.

Administration Right

Dean of Students Donald Pflasterer assures all dissenters that the Administration does have the right and the power to regulate student dress.

"If they dress like bums they act like bums," was the Dean's answer to any protest of restriction.

Dean Pflasterer went on to explain that the University does not demand "Puritan dress," just dress in good taste. The Administration decides what is good taste.

He expressed his belief that the "mode of dress has something to do with the actions of the students and with the student's state of mind." He went on to tell of one of his Maie Day experiences with sloppily dressed students.

The theme of the celebration was "Hobo Day." The students were allowed to dress in any manner they wished.

"We had more discipline problems that week than any other," the Dean explained.

The reason for not allowing the girls to wear shorts is that they may assume "a Daisy Mae" type costume.

"The state of grubbiness is not one of the freedoms," states the man in charge of student policy. Suggestions Welcome

Since the Dean believes "the rule should fit the population," he is anxious to see the students present their views. The Student Council is currently accepting suggestions concerning a change in the clothing policy and Dean Pflasterer encourages all disgruntled students to cooperate by submitting their ideas.

When the Student Council finds what they consider to be the best solution, they will present it to Dean Pflasterer. If he accepts it, the idea will then be forwarded to President Traywick. Next the "legislation" would become a law.

However, the new ordinance must be printed in the Student Handbook. The publication of the Student Handbook is done during the summer for the forthcoming fall.

OU Position Offered Brillhart Challenge And Opportunity

Omaha hospitality and Omaha University's rapidly growing administration brought Dr. John Brillhart, associate professor of speech and drama, to the University.

"Omaha is a fine city to reside in. The people of Omaha are exceptionally friendly and have been kind to me and my family. The Spirit of friendliness resides in Omaha," says Dr. Brillhart.

Dr. Brillhart's interest in administration, coinciding with Omaha U's rapid administrative growth, and his chance to try a hand as department head proved a challenge and opportunity Dr. Brillhart could not let pass. Dr. Brillhart came to OU in September of 1965 from Pennsylvania State University, where he was Assistant Professor of Speech.

However, speech was not always Dr. Brillhart's main interest.

He felt the inability to express himself, as a construction worker. "How we learn to speak may create many problems. Speech is still the primary means of communication; it remains a means of giving and getting information," Dr. Brillhart stated.

"Written communication is not vital; we intend to neglect our oral communication skills. Practice does not perfect, only makes permanent; guided practice may perfect."

Dr. Brillhart feels every college student should be able to speak on a minimum level of communication.

"If a student cannot communicate an idea coherently and in a meaningful way, speaking or writing, he should not be certified as a college graduate."

Dr. Brillhart entered David Lipscomb College, where he received his BA degree in 1952, with thoughts of a pulpit future, but lost interest in religious speaking. He attained his MA in 1957 and PhD in 1962 from the Pennsylvania State University.

As chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama, Dr. Brillhart heads three divisions: general speech education, theater and broadcasting.

Jensen Recording Sounds of Nature

The sounds of nature in the raw are being recorded by Norman Jensen.

Jensen has already recorded the calls of sparrows and crows, the roar of the male lion and the underwater "voice" of a bullhead.

He next plans to record the sounds of insects in their natural habitats.

Jensen said he started recording sounds just to learn the technique, but has now become more involved.

He is working with the aid of Dr. Charles Ingham, assistant professor in the biology department, who supplied him with a tape recorder, a parabolic reflector and a hydra-phone.

Jensen is a graduate student in biology and plans to teach in the Omaha Public School System.

Campus News In Brief

The OU Library has announced the hours it will be open during the Christmas vacation.

The library will be open December 20-22 from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. It will be closed December 23-25.

On December 27, the library will reopen from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. From December 20 through January 3, the library will again be closed.

Univ. Publications Committee Selects Mary Concannon Next Gateway Boss

A 23-year-old English major has been selected by the University Committee on Publications to edit the GATEWAY for the spring semester.

She is Mary Concannon, a senior minoring in journalism.

Working on the GATEWAY two semesters, Miss Concannon is presently serving in the capacity of proofreader.

"I want to try to orient the GATEWAY toward gaining more student interest," the editor-elect said. "One of the first things my staff and I will attempt will be to investigate the number of people who are going to school and working in their fields at the same time," she concluded.

Mary has announced a partial staff. They are: Mardelle Susman, managing editor; Bob Erxleben, news editor; Patti Matson, society editor; Bob Olson, photographer; Dave Clifton, rewrite, and Dan Eveland, copy editor.

Chet McCarthy will continue as advertising manager.

Additional staff appointments will be announced at a later date.

Allan Longacre Combines Work In Theater With Membership in Drama Associations

By Jim Vlcek

Allan K. Longacre, associate director of the University Theater, is one of the few persons who actually combines interests and hobbies with his livelihood.

He devotes the majority of his busy day to theater work which constantly demands changes in plays, characters, and the numerous directive aspects which take the major role in any production. Longacre is presently directing "The Evening of Mimes" which will take place January 7, featuring the University Theater Mime Troupe.

He is a 1959 graduate of O.U. and holds his degree in English, speech and dramatic arts. He received his masters' degree from the University of Iowa. Longacre has been with the University for the past two years. His many past and present affiliations with various theater organizations include serving on the board of the Tyron Guthrie Theater Organization, being past president of the Iowa Community Theater

Association and serving as Community Theater Editor for the

When asked about the problems facing the department in the way of production, he replied, "Getting the students to attend one of the plays is always a big problem." He said the problem that concerns him greatly are the students who pick up tickets for the plays and do not attend them. He said that many people who wanted tickets were either turned down or forced to accept an undesirable seat in the audience. Longacre said, "It is quite frustrating to open the curtain on a supposedly 'sold out' house, and to find 60 to 75 empty seats."

He stated, "Because our productions are supported through the student activity fund, we would like to do the best job possible for our student audiences. We have also been expanding the range of our publicity to include more of the community at large. I think that a major problem is the student audience. We are definitely concerned with our audiences. In the last two plays, the student audience has picked up considerably."

Commenting on the many students who ask about competitive theater growth, he said, "The Theater in America is growing by leaps and bounds. The idea of the Broadway production is becoming increasingly difficult mainly because of the rising costs of production. We are striving here at OU, not to professionalize, but to train students to understand, enjoy, and appreciate the many aspects of the theater."

Longacre is excited about the future of the drama department. He said that the department hopes to add more facilities in the way of an experimental theater workshop, a greater costume department and the possibility of more theater courses. He said, "The answer to the growth and vibrancy of the department lies in the acquiring of more space and new blood in the way of greater student participation."

Geography Club's Speaker Adebayo Faculty's Children Given Xmas Party

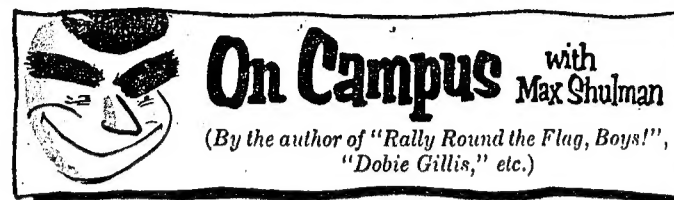

"The Geography of Nigeria" was the topic of Timothy Adebayo at the regular monthly meeting of the Geography Club, held Dec. 10 in MBSC Alcoves A & B.

Timothy is vice president of the Geography Club, a native Nigerian, and an Omaha University Senior.

Children of OU faculty members were entertained at a Christmas Party last week in the West Quonset.

Student volunteers were present to direct games.

Sponsored by the Faculty Women and Wives Club, this was the third annual party given. Mrs. Robert Ackerman was in charge of the activities.

THE BLUEBIRD OF HAPPINESS HAS FLOWN THE COOP

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Knut Fusco.

Knut, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A," was awarded his B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, his M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and his D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was his. His intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was he happy? The answer, alas, was no. Knut—he knew not why—was miserable; so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, he was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that he flung himself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by, a liberal arts coed named Nikki Sigafos came by with her Barbie doll. She noted Knut's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said Nikki.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Knut peevishly.

"All right, I will," said Nikki. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche. I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant, gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Knut shook his head.

"Have you ever watched a sunset? Written a poem? Shaved with a Personna Stainless Steel Blade?"

Knut shook his head. "Well, we'll fix that right now," said Nikki, and gave him a razor, a Personna Stainless Steel Blade, and a can of Burma Shave.

Knut lathered with the Burma Shave and shaved with the Personna and for the first time in many long years he smiled. He smiled and then he laughed—peal after peal of reverberating joy. "Wow-dow!" he cried. "What a shave! Does Personna come in injector style, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Gloriosky!" cried Knut. "And does Burma Shave come in menthol, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Huzzah!" cried Knut. "Now that I have found Personna and Burma Shave I will never have another unhappy day."

"Hold!" said Nikki. "Personna and Burma Shave alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Knut. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said Nikki.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Knut. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said Nikki and removed it.

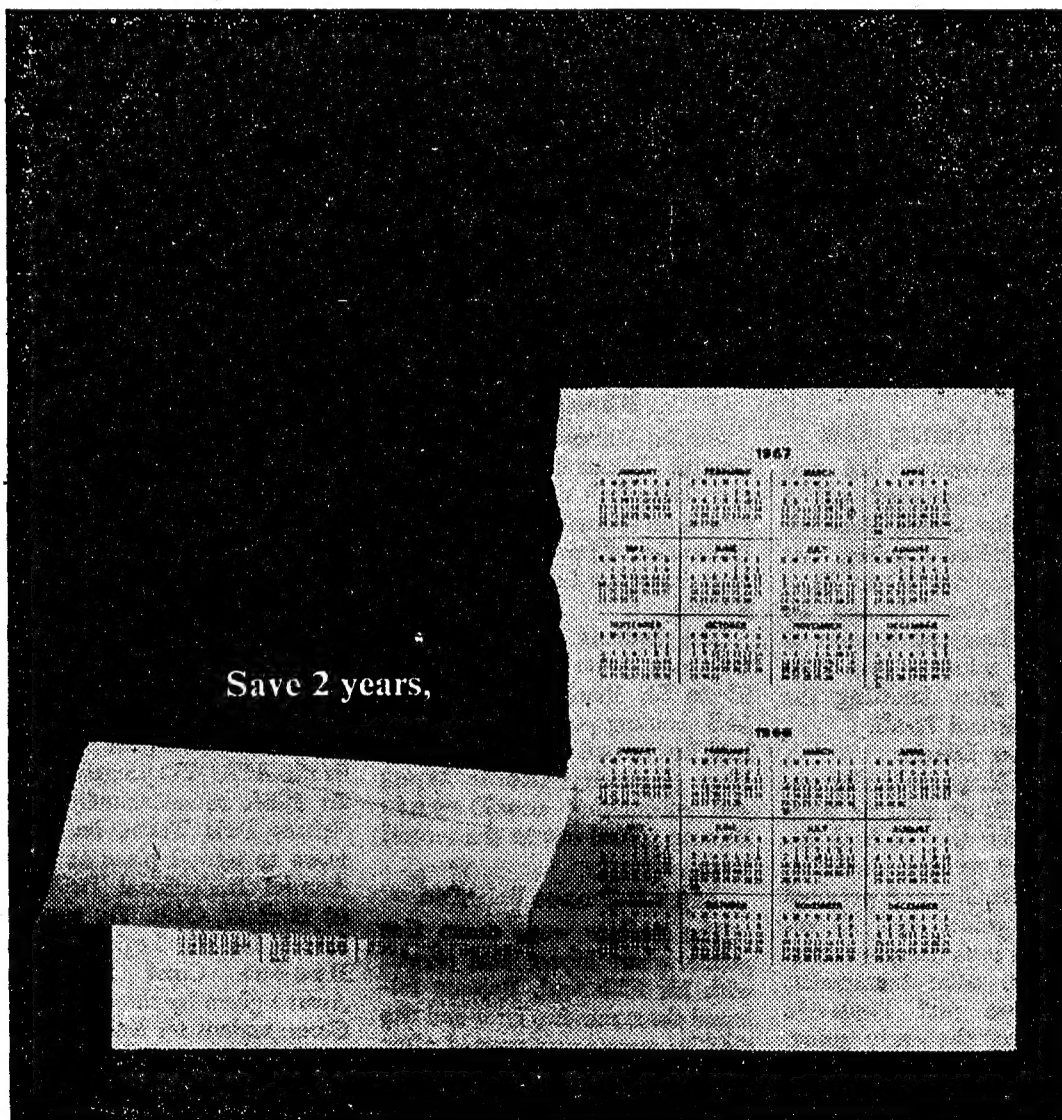

"Land's sakes, what a relief!" said Knut, now totally happy, and took Nikki's hand and led her to a Personna vendor and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Knut is a perfectly fulfilled man, both intellectually and personalitywise. He lives in a charming split-level house with Nikki and their 17 children and he rises steadily in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, he became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, he was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and he published a best-selling book called I Was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

because now you can complete Air Force ROTC in just half the time!

Are you interested in starting a military career while in college—but afraid it will cut too deeply into your schedule?

Well, here's good news for you. Air Force ROTC now offers a 2-year program. You can start it any time you have 2 years of higher education remaining—whether on the undergraduate or graduate level.

Here's another good thing about this program: you get a chance to "sample" Air Force life before you sign up. During a special summer orientation session, you get to make up your mind about the Air Force, and the Air Force gets to make up its mind about you. Only when both are satisfied are you finally enrolled in the program.

You'll learn a lot in Air Force ROTC. The curriculum has been completely revamped. The accent is on aerospace research and development. But of course the classes are only the beginning. The important thing is that you'll be taking the first big step toward a profession of great responsibility, as a leader on America's Aerospace Team.

Find out more about the new Air Force ROTC program. See the Professor of Aerospace Studies today!

St. Benedict's is not as tall a club as last year. Two other 6-5 front-line reserves were graduated and Jones and forward Jack Dugan, both 6-5, are the only players above 6-3 on the squad. Other starters are forward Vince De Greeff (6-3), and guards Ray Weber (6-3) and Don Schuering (5-11).

Dick Baesch and Mike Draemel, son of Midland's vociferous coach My Draemel, kept the Warriors in contention the last half, each chipping in 10 points. Baesch led the Warriors with 20 points, while Draemel hit 16.

Grapplers Topple Concordia 36-7 For Second Win; Travel For Triple Sat.

Omaha University grapplers ran their record to 2 and 1 last Thursday night by defeating Concordia State Teachers College 36 to 7.

The Indians rolled to eight straight wins, five by pins, before freshman Neil Franklin was pinned by Don Grauer in the 177-pound class.

OU's 130-pound standout, Gerald Shook, pinned his third straight opponent, Phil Kraft, in the relatively short time of 3:26.

The fastest pin of the night came in the 137 pound division, where OU's Jerry Murtaugh stopped Art Gundell in 1:55. Following closely behind was 152-pound Jerry Newville who pinned Dean Lovig in 1:59.

The results:
115—Curlee Alexander, Omaha, decided Gary Ebendick, 8-1.
123—Gary Krieger, Omaha, pinned Phil Lang in 3:44.

130—Gerald Shook, Omaha, pinned Phil Kraft in 3:26.

Triple-Dual

Don Benning will take his OU matmen to De Kalb, Illinois, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock for a "triple-dual" meet against Northern Illinois, Marquette and Wisconsin State of Whitewater.

The Indians were originally scheduled to take on Marquette in a dual meet today, but a late change in Marquette's schedule precipitated the move.

The Indians will battle each team in round robin style.

Dr. Bethel Has IBM Card Wreath

By Mary Concannon

All the creativity in the College of Teacher Education seems to be found in the elementary education department.

Dr. Hollie Bethel, head of the elementary education department, rescued a box of IBM cards left over from registration, which were about to be disposed of.

Teachers, being hoarders for the most part, Dr. Bethel couldn't see the old IBM cards going to waste. She shaped the cards into leaves, and sprayed them with gold paint. Then she attached little blue Christmas tree ornaments and a gold bow to the cards which she had arranged in a circle.

The finished IBM card wreath is now hanging on Dr. Bethel's office door.

Dr. Bethel also has a wreath in her office made from World Herald want ads which she covered with green spray paint.

Helen Howell, of the elementary education department, made a Christmas wreath for her office door from red shelf paper, green sequins and yellow map tacks.

The office doors of the secondary education department's faculty are decorated with office hours.

Jan. 6 Is Date Set For Senior Meet

Senior Class President Loren Drum has announced that the final meeting of the senior class will be held in the form of a tea.

The tea will be held Thursday, January 6, at 3:30 p.m. in the Milo Bail Student Center Ballroom. Coffee, tea, punch and cookies will be served.

President Drum stated that the meeting will be the most important of the year, as the class gift and the class sponsors will be chosen. All seniors who are able to do so, are urged to attend the meeting.

A final request that all senior class fees be paid before the January meeting has been issued by the class treasurer, Arnold Jensen.

Over $3,500 has been collected thus far, but there are still many seniors who have not paid.

Hess And Martin New Soc. Faculty

The sociology department has two new staff members.

They are Kathryn E. Hess who has an MA from the University of Nebraska and Cora A. Martin who has a PhD from the University of Texas.

Miss Hess, who teaches Basic Statistics and Social Organization, also works part time in the computer center. She acts as a consultant for people who need information in regard to the computer and assists in research in sociology with the computer.

Miss Martin teaches Social Psychology, Introduction to Sociology, and Personality and Group.

OU Reading Lab Is 'One Of Best'

"The University of Omaha has one of the best reading facilities in the Midwest," said Roy Toothaker, director of the reading laboratory at the University.

Toothaker said the reading course is for the person who can read but wants to read better. He said that 75 per cent of the people in his classes are freshmen, and he recommends the course to all freshmen. "Many students have commented," he said, "that the course does help them in their study."

The reading director said that the equipment in the reading laboratory is an excellent aid to instruction. He added that a new machine has arrived that speeds up word phrase and sentence recognition.

"Those wanting to work," said Mr. Toothaker, "can double or triple their reading speed."

He added that while many colleges offer a reading course on a non-credit basis, the reading course here at the University gives credit.

TV Teach-ins Aid Parents

Frustrated parents, embarrassed siblings and confused youngsters will be rescued by KYNE-TV, Channel 26, the first week in February.

This station will broadcast an introduction to Modern Math. The class will be a nine-week course entitled "Modern Math for Parents." It is planned to help parents understand what their grade school children are accomplishing in their math classes. It will furthermore enable them to help instruct their children.

Leon Benschoter, program manager, explained that this course will be taught in teach-ins. These teach-ins, however, will be less spectacular than those most often heard about today. They will be groups of parents that get together at schools, view programs, and then, under a qualified math instructor, discuss what they have heard and seen.

William Newens, promotion and traffic manager for KYNE-TV, has another name for these teach-ins. "These classes may be viewed as Utilization Centers or may be taken as home study courses," Mr. Newens explained.

Study guides may soon be purchased for fifty cents in the KYNE-TV office, in AA 222.

Exhibit To Feature Contemporary Art

A new art exhibit will open on the third floor on MBSC at 7:30 p.m. January 3.

The exhibit will feature works by five contemporary artists. Each will be represented by five drawings.

The artists are Morris Broderon and Edward Stasak from the Downtown Gallery, New York City; Bruce Conner from the Allen Gallery, New York City and Jack Zajac and John Paul Jones of the Landau Gallery, San Francisco.

The show will run through the month of January.

IEEE Invites MBA Degree New Members Now Offered

The Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers welcomes new members to their OU branch.

The I.E.E.E. is a national organization involving a wide spectrum of sciences. OU's student branch has a membership of about 20. The only requirement for membership is that a student be taking a full course of study in some science or in engineering.

The group has had two meetings this year. The first was conducted by Dr. William Walden of OU's computer center who spoke on the topic of electronics and computers. The second had Dr. C. Robert Keppel of the chemistry department with a talk on the production of chemical compositions through the use of electrical discharges.

A third meeting is planned following the Christmas vacation. Dr. William Jaynes of the psychology department will speak.

Student officers are Jerry Cobry, George Ryck, Bill Schonlau and Larry Zwart.

Librarian Audits Study Room Use

In an effort to find out how many students are using the facilities of the Gene Eppley Library, the library took a count last Monday and Tuesday.

According to Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian, a Monday was selected for the study because it is considered a busy day, and Tuesday was chosen because it is a slow day.

On Monday, 5771 students were observed using either the study rooms or other sections of the library. Tuesday's count was 4835. Seven years ago usage was measured at approximately 2500 for a Monday and nearly 2000 for a Tuesday.

The peak activity period for both days occurred around 10:30 a.m.

Courses leading to the Master of Business Administration degree are being offered at Omaha University for the first time this year.

The program was organized by the College of Business Administration and the Graduate College.

The courses offered encompass the major area of business administration and economics. The program of the MBA is to broaden the scope of education in the business college. The need was created by today's complex business, industrial and governmental organization.

Wide Variety

The 59 graduate students enrolled in the program are all either full or part-time workers in the Omaha area. They come from a wide variety of interests. Some of the students are personnel in insurance companies, packing plants, utility companies and manufacturing plants. They all have the desire to further their education in the business world.

Students in the MBA attend graduate business courses twice weekly, and are allowed to enroll for six credit hours each semester. The program is organized so that the student takes two three hour courses each semester. Thirty-six hours in all must be completed to be eligible for the MBA degree.

Courses Offered

This semester four courses are being offered in the MBA program. They are: Advanced Firm and Industry Theory, Marketing Policies, The Environment of Management, and Business and Society. Electives are taken from the other various fields of business administration.

The active faculty for this year are Dr. C. M. Bull, Dr. Perry Chang, Dr. Jack Hill and Dr. Willis Rokes. Dr. Chang and Dr. Bull both received their PhDs from the University of Nebraska. Dr. Hill was awarded a PhD from the University of Texas and Dr. Rokes received his PhD from the University of Utah.

Council Christmas Call 'Y'all Come'; Party, Prizes For ALL OU Pupils

Christmas Dance Chairmen Suzi Mortensen and Kathy Wybenga hug Santa in anticipation of the Student Council dance tonight.

Greeks, nonGreeks, Greekhatters, bookworms, athletes, ping pong players, flunkies . . . all are invited to the Student Council's Christmas dance tonight.

It will be from 9 p.m.-midnight in the MBSC Ballroom. Music will be by the Coachmen, combo who recently recorded "Mr. Moon."

According to co-chairman Suzi Mortensen two good reasons to come are the free food and drinks and the door prizes that will be given away. Prizes include an AM-FM transistor radio, a $25 gift certificate from a local department store, and two record albums.

Activity Card Admits

One activity card per person admits to the dance. The Coachmen will play until the appearance of a "Mystery Santa Claus" at 10:30. At this time there will also be some Christmas caroling. (The Gateway was unable to obtain any inside information as to the identity of the Mystery Santa).

Attire for the event is informal. Suzi Mortensen and Kathy Wybenga are in charge of the dance.

"The fact that the dance is informal and for all students will make the night more relaxed and fun for everyone," said Suzi.

"The Student Council is sponsoring it, but everyone is invited to help in decorating. We will be in the Student Center Ballroom all morning getting the lounge ready," she continued. "Y'all come," she finished.

Newmanites Sing, Make Halls Ring

Newmanites will break the silence that traditionally belongs to hospital halls tonight.

But the noise will be welcome. The Newman club will be singing Christmas carols for patients at St. Catherine's Hospital for the elderly.

Members will meet in the St. Margaret Mary's parking lot.

Theta Chi's, Zeta's Capture Talent; Thomas Elected Typical Greek Man

The Sigma Kappa's named three winners at their dance Friday . . . one typical and two talented.

Mike Thomas was elected "Typical Fraternity Man" by vote of sorority and fraternity members attending the "Showboat." Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Theta Chi fraternity won the talent competition.

Mike is a 22-year-old junior majoring in history. He represented Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and is secretary of that group. Other candidates were John Povilaitis, Pi Kappa Alpha; Jim Solomonson, Lambda Chi Alpha; Joe Benson, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Wayne Wother- spoon, Theta Chi.

Talent competition was open to all Greek organizations on campus. Zeta Tau Alpha won with a chorus, "The Zeta Zingers." Theta Chi's winning entry was a "Battle of Drums." Winners were selected by a panel of three judges selected by Sigma Kappa.

The dance was from 9 p.m.-midnight) in the MBSC Ballroom.

The Greek Grind

Sigma Kappa pledges are planning a Christmas program to be presented at Nebraska City's Mount Carmel Rest Home December 19.

Chi Omega will hold its annual formal Dinner Dance next Thursday. It will be at the Happy Hollow Country Club from 8 p.m.-midnight. The Chi Omega singers will present an after-dinner program.

Members of Alpha Xi Delta are planning a date party December 26.

The Chi Omega Christmas party will be tonight at the home of Carol Shelton. Sorority mothers and daughters will exchange gifts, and pledge paddles will be presented.

The Sig Eps will hold their annual Christmas party at the Diplomat Hotel this year. The party will be Monday from 9 p.m.-12:30 a.m. The Starfires Combo will play. Pledge paddles will be exchanged.

Sigma Kappa's will hold a Pillow Paddle Party December 29. Sorority mothers and daughters will exchange gifts and decorated pillows and paddles. It will be at the home of Lynn Holquist.

Katie Hinchman was chosen Tau Kappa Epsilon Sweetheart Saturday at their Red Carnation Formal. Katie is a former OU student.

The annual Lambda Chi-Iota Delta all-star basketball game will be played at the South Omaha YMCA on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Alpha Xi Delta will have a slumber party December 29 at the home of Ronnie Apple-gate.

ZTA's To Choose 1965 'Coolest Man' At Annual 'Fantasy In Frost' Dance

What could possibly be elected at a December "Fantasy in Frost" dance?

Why, naturally, it just has to be a "Coolest Man"!!

Zeta Tau Alpha's annual all-greek dance is the occasion for this election Saturday. The 9 p.m. to midnight dance will be in the MBSC Ballroom with the Echoes combo providing music.

Candidates will be elected by vote of sorority and fraternity members attending the dance. One of the following fraternity members will be the Zeta's "Coolest Man:" Bob Nelson, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Bob Bales, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Brian Stemmerman, Lambda Chi Alpha; Jack Randow, Pi Kappa Alpha and Tom Upton, Theta Chi.

Margaret Grossman will host a pre-party at her home from 7:30-8:30 p.m. The party is for members of Zeta Tau Alpha and their dates.

Blazek Is Chosen Monthly Scholar

James Blazek, sophomore accounting major, has been selected as December's Scholar of the month by the Corinthians Society.

Jim works 35 to 40 hours a week at both Mutual of Omaha and Lutheran hospital. He has managed to maintain an accumulative grade average of 3.86.

He is also a member of the Omaha University band.

'The Plane Must Go Through'--- Lesson Learned by OU Pledges

by John Whisman

The pledges were late and the plane didn't wait.

In brief that is a summary of the unsuccessful Alpha Epsilon Pi pledge class skip.

AEPi pledges captured two actives: President Mel Epstein and Treasurer Gary Lewis. They grabbed them with the intention of sending them to Drake University where another AEPi chapter is located.

The pledges masqueraded as hoods during skip maneuvers. Black jackets and white ties helped conceal their identities.

They sought Epstein at the Civic Auditorium where he was allegedly attending wrestling matches. He wasn't there, and they later found him at home. Lewis was captured at his girl friend's home. While the pledges drug him out of the house, his girl lovingly made him a sack lunch complete with peanut butter sandwich to take along.

The pledges, however, had lost valuable time capturing the two actives. They were late in getting to Gene Eppley Airport where the Des Moines destined plane was taxiing down the runway on its takeoff.

$7 Buys Skiing Jaunt

Skiers and would be-skiers with seven dollars can now buy four days of the sport.

Tickets to the Crescent Ski area near Council Bluffs include only the cost of using the slopes. Tickets which include both the four days of skiing and rental of equipment are being sold for $16.50.

Tickets may be purchased in the office of Art Department Head Dr. J. V. Blackwell or at any one of the Ski Club's regular meetings.

The Ski Club has made tentative plans for a four-day excursion, but has not yet set a definite date.

Christmas is a time of joy

That is, for everyone except old Scrooge here. He just couldn't seem to get with it. While everyone else was jogging around buying presents and flipping coins in kettles, he was doing the "Bah, humbug" bit. Why—he didn't even join the U. S. National Bank's Christmas Club. He knows that Christmas rolls around every year, but somehow he keeps hoping that maybe—just once—a year will come around and everyone will forget about it. The only friend he has says that it's really only a matter of money with him—that as far as he's concerned, Christmas is A-OK. It's just that he's a tightwad. Anyway, we think next year's going to be different. That one friend of his brought old Scrooge, kicking and screaming, into U.S. We signed him up for next year's Christmas Club, and although he wailed and groaned, we think next Christmas will be a time of joy for him, too.
